TOP NOTCH FRAMES

It's race time in Moab! Gentlemen, and Ladies, start your engines?!? And you thought the only racing at the Fat Tire Festival is done on bicycles. Not so. This is the fifth annual CFTF go-cart race and it has plenty of tradition. The coveted crown of go-cart champ has been shared by only two repeat champs, "Indy" and "Jill the Thrill". Will there be a new winner this year? If so, whoever it is will have overcome some serious competition. So get ready to rumble!

Here's the deal, place in the top two of your 10 lap heat and keep on advancing to the 20 lap main event. Top 3 finishers in the main will win nice prizes plus special awards.

Racing takes place at the Gotta-Wanna Fun Center

Raceway, located just behind the Moab Brewery, and starts Friday, October 20 at 4:00 p.m. sharp. You must be registered for the festival on Friday to participate, and even then, the event will be limited to the first 64 who show up, so be there early if you plan on racing. If you just want to come and watch, feel free, it's really a lot of laughs to watch these grown up people intensely racing these little bitsy cars.
