

...it's the contamination of the SSUKo8 Reports

Being a bunch of old hippies/punks/reprobates that are also addicted to bikes - we have always thought there was a festival/nice vibe/fun element missing from bike events. I suppose SITS comes the nearest but still lacks that festival feeling. There is always a big anti-climax feeling post race - when partying or even just sitting and having a chill with a big fat one and like minded souls is missing.

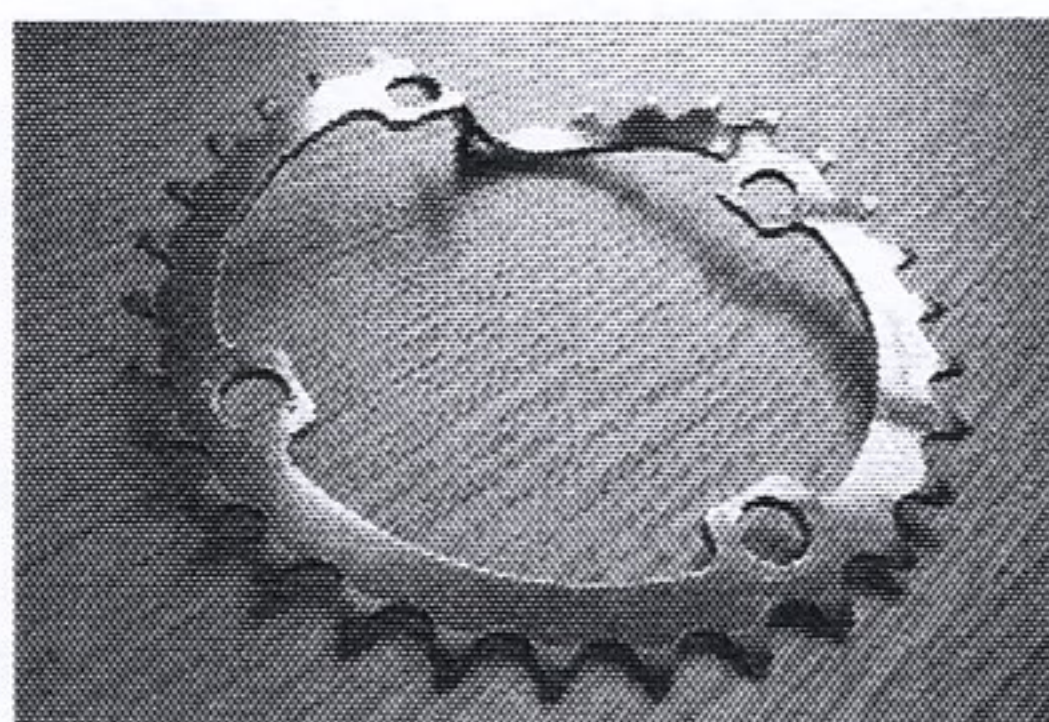

Bikes are part of my blood and soul but I always feel a little out of place at racing events - people are so serious and well.....STRAIGHT. Talking bikes usually overcomes this but it's not quite the same

This was my first SS event - and it's the best race/bike do/thingy I've EVER been to. The group I came with were also blown away - including the non racers/riders. It was better than I expected - absolutely, f excellent.

WELL DONE.

I'm no racer - have only done the odd thing like SITS, one Mayhem, a couple of Meridas - years ago and the Early Dawes this year but that was the BEST course - what a blast to ride. Lovely.

The SITS course at Trentham was nice too, really high percentage of singletrack - but this beat even that.

"Here's a pic of Martin my brother-in-law that Postie Rich took. I think the excitement of the event was just too much for him, bless. He didnt spill his ale though."

Attached is a picture of what's left of my chain ring after riding one of the trails at Drumlanrig Castle the day before the SSUK08 race. Luckily for me I had just sat back down in the saddle as it died! Thanks to Rik for selling me some bits to fix it before race day.

☆ CONVERT ☆

☆ DIRT BOMB ☆

☆ ALMA ☆

HOLY ROLLER ☆ PLOWBOY

ROYALE ☆ GROUNDSKEEPER

☆ OPTION 3 ☆

☆ SS CONVERSION KITS ☆

...OK SEAN'S COMING. RELAX. IT'LL BE SWEET.